The HUMOURIST. No. VII.

Majores nuſquam Rhonci, Juveneſque, Seneſque,
Et Pueri Naſum Rhinocerontis habent.
Martial.

WHEN Phidias had completed the Athenian Minerva, a Critic, of much the ſame Diſcernment with theſe of the preſent Age, intimated to him, that the Waiſt was too thick; the ſilly Crowd, who always put an implicit Faith in theſe malevolent Leaders, join'd in the Opinion, and the Statuary, in order to rectify the Blunder, chipp'd it to the Delicacy of their Fancy: But when another Set of People came to ſee it, they inſiſted, that is was too ſlender; Phidias then threw aſide his Tools, informing them, that it was impoſſible to chip any on again.

In this Manner theſe Triflers perplex the beſt Capacities, and ſacrifice Excellence to the Attacks of inſolent Curioſity: The moſt unexceptionable Writers, have dearly experienced the Conſequences of Envy and Ill-Nature; none are exempt from it who enter the Liſts of Authoriſm, becauſe every weak Mortal (and weak Mortals abound every where) conſiders himſelf as the Cenſor of the Age. It is a firſt Principle with theſe Gentlemen, to decry all Performances, not becauſe they deſerve Cenſure, but as ſoaring above their Comprehenſions, not as void of Matter, but as a Taſte for Cenſure ſeems to indicate a more refined Judgment and extenſive Knowledge than Silence or Decorum can infer; to be pacific now [illegible] and ſenſeleſs; to take [illegible] in the Senſe intended, argues a narrow [illegible] Capacity, diſcovers a Want of [illegible] It is a Taſk, that the Critic has not [illegible] Humility, and leſs Spirit, at leaſt, than [illegible] better tempered: for, tho' it is a glorious Thing to be be poſſeſſed of the Strength of Lions, yet 'tis tyrannous to uſe it.

The Critics may be ranged into Claſſes, or certain Orders of Diſtinction, as thus, one ſeizes upon your Title, another ſuggeſts, and by a wonderful Sagacity, hunts out an Author's Name, ſome comment, ſome diſſect, and all miſconſtrue.

This Accuſation is principally aim'd at the modern Critics, for the Ancients were, generally ſpeaking, a People of different Inclinations and better Diſpoſitions.

Dyoniſius, Longinus, and Quintilian, were Men of acknowledged Parts, and what Remarks they may have paſſed againſt particular Authors, were intended to eſtabliſh a true Taſte, and reform Corruptions that might poſſibly creep into the Republic of Letters; they had Honeſty eno' to confeſs the Truth, and Generoſity to admire Merit where they found it.

Our modern Critics arrogate to themſelves what does not belong them: They are Poets, Philoſophers, and Divines; they are Orators, Stateſmen and Prime Miniſters; they are as knowing in Science as mechanic Operations: In ſhort, a Critic is an Abſtract of every Thing, and is very communicatively inclined, always giving his Opinion, as the true Standard whereby to direct the Judgment and inform the Underſtanding of Mankind.

I need not add, that they are by Nature cruel, to uſe an Author with Raillery, whoſe higheſt Ambition is to pleaſe, eſpecially when he offers his Sentiments with a becoming Modeſty: I always made it a Rule with me, to read all Authors as Anonymo's, regarding the Senſe, not Names of Books, indifferent, like the Conſulters of Oracles, who ſpeaketh, provided what is ſpoken be ſenſible and juſt; true Wiſdom being nothing elſe but an Induction from examined Judgments, making proper Applications to Diſcourſe, and drawing the moſt natural Concluſions from an Author.

It ſeems annexed to the Fate of all Writers, from the Oracles, to the puny Echoes of Learning, that they ſhall live in a State of War: The Complaint againſt the Council of Trent, was, that they condemned not ſo much Books as Authors, and indeed it is a general Diſtemper, ſupported by the worſt Principles, Pride and Envy. Our Fancies are ſo bigotted to ſome particular Notions, that no one can be ſurpriſed at the Cauſes of intellectual Slavery, who takes Time to reflect upon the Perverſeneſs of human Nature, which creates an obſtinate Moroſeneſs againſt any Man's Light, not lighted at his Candle.

One Satisfaction however attends the Writer, ſuperior to what other Men can boaſt under a critical Survey, and that (confining myſelf only to the Inſtance of the Statuary) evidently appears; if a Writer errs in Judgment, he can eaſily correct himſelf, if he gives a falſe colouring, he has it in his Power to retouch; but the Statuary has no Reſource left, he has the torturing Reflection, that his Work will ſtand as an eternal Subject for Animadverſion and critical Reflection.

The true Nature of Criticiſm, widely differs from what we uſually underſtand by the Expreſſion; it is not the Art of finding Fault that merits the Apellation, it is the determined Reſolution of a Reader neither to depreciate nor dignify by partial Repreſentations, that conſtitutes the amiable Part of a Critic; the Ancients were regardleſs of particular Connexions, wholly ſollicitous to promulgate the Stamp of Truth, and rely on her Determinations, whatever ſhe might dictate.

The Humourist to the Critics.

[illegible]

Critics [illegible] ſuch a young [illegible] will [illegible] myſelf with the Sect, as [illegible] Your Name beſpeaks Contempt; more it may, leſs methinks it cannot.

Preſerve a proper and reſpectable Diſtance, a reverential Awe to my Authority, or I will aſſume the Wings of Icaromenippus, and fly to my aerial Manſion (now ready for the Reception of its Maſter) and hurl Confuſion on you.

If a People are to fear, it is neceſſary to know, whom they are to fear; the Brave are ever juſt. Know then, that I was born under a Planet not to die in a Lazaretto. The hot Conſtellation of Cancer preſided at my Nativity. Mars was then predominant. Of all the Elements, Fire ſways moſt in me. I have many Aſpirings, many elevated Conceptions, owing, for the moſt Part, to the peculiar Quality of the Ground whereon I was born, which was the Top of a Hill ſituated South-Eaſt, ſo that the Houſe muſt be illuſtrious, being ſo obvious to the Sun-Beams.

I have made a Rule, that whoever ſhall inſinuate a Laugh, a diſtant Joke, or otherwiſe, on my Writings, and ſhall not own my Performances to be the beſt wrote Pieces in the World, the Claſſics only excepted, ſhall be look'd upon as a Coxcomb, and ———; and I do hereby give any Man leave to lay him on his Center of Gravity.

EDINBURGH, October 6.

A Letter from Paris acquaints us, that a miſſioner (one of the moſt famous preachers in France, and who had a particular talent in controverſy) was lately ſent to Languedoc to convert the Hugenots who ſwarm in that province. After the bell was rung in, he enters the church and only finds in it five or ſix perſons. Nevertheleſs he goes up to the pulpit, and ſits down for a conſiderable time to wait the convening of his audience. No more of them appearing, at laſt he pulls a flute from his pocket, and very gravely begins to play a tune. One of his little congregation goes out of the church, and acquaints the people that the miſſionary prieſt was gone mad, and that he was playing on the flute in the pulpit. The oddneſs of the thing made the church fill in a ſhort time, and he continuing ſtill playing, untill it was ſo full that they were ſitting on one another; then he gave a ſign to ſhut all the doors, that none of them ſhould eſcape, and ſermonized them for ſeven hours without intermiſſion. This ſtratagem, and his manner of preaching were ſo taking with theſe people, that, during his miſſion, he had always thronged audiences, and they were all grieved when he was obliged to leave them.

London, Nov. 3. We hear from Oxfordſhire, that on Saturday laſt Lord Parker and Sir Edward Turner gave a ſplendid entertainment to the gentlemen and freeholders of the new intereſt at Watlington. There were preſent the greateſt part of the landed intereſt of that ſide of Oxfordſhire. The meeting likewiſe was honoured with the company of the duke of Marlborough, earl of Macclesfield, earl Harcourt, and a conſiderable number of gentlemen of property and diſtinction. Many loyal healths were drank, which ſhewed the zealous attachment of that intereſt to his majeſty king George, the preſent happy eſtabliſhment in church and ſtate. And on Monday Lord Parker and Sir Edward Turner were met by their friends at the end of the fair mile, near Henley, from whence they went in proceſſion to the town. There went firſt a large band of muſic, after that came the flags, on one of which was inſcribed "Parker and Turner," and on the reverſe of it, "the right and privilege of voting reſtored, 1753." On the "other flag was painted, "liberty and loyalty," and on the reverſe of that, "the "proteſtant religion and ſucceſſion." Then followed [illegible] Harcourt and [illegible], and by a great number of gentlemen [illegible] The [illegible] was brought up by the equipages of the gentlemen preſent and by an immenſe crowd of people. When they came to Henley they were all moſt nobly entertained at the Town Hall and at ſeveral public houſes. The ſame loyal healths were again drank as at Watlington. The higheſt joy and unanimity was expreſs'd on the occaſion, which gave a melancholy forecaſt to the enemies of the new intereſt, but a joyful proſpect to its friends of the future ſucceſs of Lord Parker and Sir Edward Turner.

London, Nov. 13. We hear there are about 2000 boats at preſent employed in the herring fiſhery at Clyde in Scotland, which meet with great ſucceſs, and the herrings are extraordinary good.

Modena, October 25. On the 18th of this month the whole city was alarmed by the arrival of the count de Monzone, our miniſter at the court of Verſailles. He alighted at the palace gate and was immediately conducted to an audience of his ſerene highneſs in his cabinet, which laſted full two hours. A grand council was held the next day, and things appear to be in much agitation, the cauſe of which is not known; ſome ſay that his ſerene highneſs's journey to Milan will not take place till the Spring.

(From the Utrecht Gazette.)

London, Nov. 2. A ſquadron of men of war is ſhortly to be ſent to ſea upon an expedition of importance, which is yet talk'd of but very ſecretly. It is pretty certain that it will not be ſent to the Mediterranean; and to judge from the pilots which are to be employed on board, it ſeems rather deſtined for the German ocean.

London, Nov. 17. They write from Amſterdam, that a perſon who has made ſeveral voyages to Spitzbergen is about to publiſh the obſervations he has made in that country and the iſlands adjacent, which, it is ſaid, will furniſh matter of ſolid utility and information, as well as many curious and entertaining particulars, more eſpecially in regard to the great probability that there is of a clear paſſage on both ſides of that country towards Nova Zembla, as well as Greenland, and which will likewiſe confirm the opinion that has been entertained of there being warm weather and an open ſea under the Pole.

well

A bill is preparing to be preſented to parliament, for the more effectual preventing oppreſſions and extortion by officers and goalers, by ſettling their fees, &c. under certain penalties.

Madrid, Oct. 23. The court continues to take all poſſible meaſures to prevent the illicit commerce of every nation in America; eſpecially ſince they have been informed that the merchandize of France has been frequently introduced into Mexico by the way of Miſſiſipi, which cauſes a great prejudice to the regiſter Ships.

London, Nov. 22. According to letters from Turky, by the way of Poland, we are aſſured that ſeveral corps of troops have received orders to repair into the neighbourhood of Adrianople, where a very conſiderable army will be formed, in purſuance of a reſolution taken by the grandſignior, to introduce camps of parade.

London, Nov. 24. The Amſterdam gazette tells us, that beſides what has been formerly ſaid of the convention between the Engliſh and French Eaſt-India companies, it is agreed, that from henceforth they ſhall enjoy in common the ſettlement of Muſulipatan and ſome other diſtricts on the coaſt of Coromandel, the poſſeſſion of which had been long diſputed.

We learn from Moſcow, that the prince of Holſtein Beck is appointed to command the forces that are to aſſemble in the ſpring on the frontiers; the pacific party in the Turkiſh Divan carries every thing now with little difficulty, and the miniſters are ſo ſenſible nothing is to be got by war, that they liſten very willingly to the arguments of thoſe foreign miniſters who preach to them the bleſſings of peace. In Perſia public calamities increaſe every day.

They write from Vienna, that the Imperial court has determined to compleat all the regiments of foot, and to remount all thoſe of horſe in her ſervice. The hereditary prince of Modena will make a tour to Dreſden about the middle of December. The marquis de Botta is declared prime miniſter to the new vicar general in Italy.

Orders are given for a draught to be made from the guards in the [illegible] [illegible]

The boards of admiralty are now changed from wedneſdays, to tueſdays and thurſdays every week.

CHARLES-TOWN, February 12.

On Wedneſday laſt arrived here the Ship Martha, of Exeter, Abraham Parker Maſter, from St. Andero.

On Friday laſt arrived here Capt. Hutchings, from Antigua and St. Martin's.— Juſt before he left Antigua (which was about the 4th of laſt Month) a large Fire was ſeen at Sea, and many Guns heard to Windward: The Penny Man of War being expected from Barbados, having been ſeen ſome Days before off Marigante, yet not arrived, and Veſſels having been ſent ([illegible]) in ſearch of her, 'twas ſuppoſed ſhe had, by ſome Accident, taken Fire, and that every Man in her periſhed.

On Saturday arrived here His Majeſty's Sloop Jamaica, and on Sunday His Majeſty's Ship Shoreham, commanded by Capt. Julian Legge, from their Cruize in the Windward Paſſage; by which we are informed, that on their Arrival at Turks-Iſlands, the Caicos's and Heneaga, they met with no French Inhabitants, nor had any yet ſettled there: The only Marks of Poſſeſſion they found on thoſe Iſlands were, Croſſes and large Poſts erected, to which were affixed Copper-Plates, whereon were engraved the French King's Arms and an Inſcription to this Effect, The Continuation of the Poſſeſſion of Louis the XVth, King of France, 1753; all which Marks of Poſſeſſion they cut down and brought away; and, leſt the French ſhould ill treat the Bermudians who were on thoſe Iſlands, when they ſhould find their Marks taken away, Capt. Legge thought proper to direct Lieutenant Sergeant of the Jamaica, who was the Officer that went on Shore, to leave at thoſe Keys the following Declaration, viz.

"To prevent any Violence being uſed to any of the People who live on Grand-Key, Salt-Key or Sand-Key, it is thought proper to leave this Declaration, that we cut down the Arms of the Moſt Chriſtian King, and the Croſſes that were ſet up as Marks of Poſſeſſion on the ſaid Iſlands, and carried the ſame away, purſuant to Inſtructions for ſo doing: And farther, that His Britannick Majeſty will not ſuffer any Marks of Poſſeſſion to be ſet up on any of the Keys or Iſlands known by the Name of Turks-Iſlands. Dated the 21ſt of January, 1754."

We are further informed, that a Sloop belonging to Capt. David Cutler Braddock of Providence (commanded by Capt. Mackay), which ſail'd from thence at the ſame Time with the Men of War, (and on board whom Capt. Legge had put one of his Mates to obſerve Signals,) arriving at Turks-Iſlands the Day before them, was taken by an arm'd Sloop, mann'd with Spaniards, who firſt ſtripped Capt. Mackay and his Crew naked, afterwards whipped and obliged them to jump over-board and ſwim to the Shore for their Lives, and then carried off the Veſſel.

On Saturday laſt the General Aſſembly of this Province was adjourned, to Tueſday the 26th Inſtant, at 10 o'the Clock in the Morning; when, 'tis hoped, every Member will chearfully give his Attendance, as (we are told) ſome Buſineſs of great Moment will be before them, which will require their moſt ſerious Attention, and Diſpatch.

The Sally, of and for Boſton, from Antigua, Henry Irving Maſter, foundered at Sea, about 6 Weeks ago, a little to the Southward of Bermuda: The Captain and Crew took to their Boat, and got to Providence in 18 Days, from whence they are come here.

The Molly & Sally, Whiteford, from Barbados, with Slaves, (on board whom Capt. Lamp[illegible], one of our Pilots, has been theſe 8 or 9 Days) is not yet come in; but is ſuppoſed to be ſafe, as ſhe has been ſeen by ſeveral Veſſels, and a Ship appeared in the Offing all Day Yeſterday.

Laſt Night died, Capt. Thomas Riggs, Commander of His Majeſty's Sloop Jamaica; ſince which the Command of that Veſſel has been, by Capt. Legge, conferred on Lieut. Henry Dubois, (who ſome Time ſince commanded His Majeſty's Sloop Baltimore, upon the Deceaſe of Capt. Collin McDonald). And we hear, that upon Capt. Dubois's Preferment, Mr. Charles Roach will be appointed lieutenant of the Shoreham, and Mr. John [illegible] of the Baltimore.
